Board backs 24 hour/7 day emergency

by Andrew Milne

The Minden Hospital should remain open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, for the rest of the fiscal year, says one local group consulted on the decision.

The Acting Health Services Board, the local board struck to take over administration of the hospitals in Minden and Haliburton, arrived at their decision at their regular meeting, October 11.

Said board member Barbara Dawson, "What happens if the staff are let go, and the facilities are closed down — what is there left for us to build on?"

St. Joseph's Hospital and Health Centre of Peterborough, which is currently responsible for the Minden and Haliburton hospitals, had announced in late September that it was considering cutting Minden's emergency ward altogether, effective as of the beginning of October, and running an eight-hour a day clinic in the building with the remainder of the tiny hospital's operating budget.

The Ministry of Health (MOH), however, told St. Joseph's it could not make so drastic a change in service without first consulting with the community (including the AHSB and St. Joseph's own Community Advisory Council), and submitting a revised operating plan regarding service after the end of October to the MOH. St. Joseph's has been permitted to reduce service to 16 hours a day in the meantime, and the Minden hospital has been closed between midnight and 8 a.m. since October 1. It is expected to draft the revised operating plan later this month.

St. Joseph's says the Minden facility's budget is approximately two-thirds gone, halfway through the fiscal year, due to the expense of coping with a critical shortage of doctors to staff the small hospital's wards. The in-patient ward was closed in April, and the hospital has been paying doctors to come from other communities to staff the emergency ward.

Peace Garden planted at Ridgewood

While the students and staff of Ridgewood Public School look on, the first tulip bulbs of the school's "Peace Garden" were planted. The garden, one of 200 across the country, marks the 50th anniversary of the end of World War Two and the special bond between the Netherlands and Canada. More photos on page 20.

by Jerry Grozelle

The ceremonial planting of a Dutch Tulip Celebration Garden was held at Ridgewood Public School in Cobocok. The entire school participated in the dedication ceremony on the cool, misty morning of October 11.

Ridgewood's garden is one of 200 being planted across Canada this fall as living symbols of the bond of friendship that exists between Canada and the Netherlands. The "peace" gardens commemorate the 50th anniversary of the first gift of 100,000 tulips from Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, thanking Canadians for hosting the Dutch Royal Family during World War II and for Canada's role in the liberation of Holland.

Boni Featherstone, a Grade 6 teacher at Ridgewood, entered a contest in Canadian Living magazine in June. The contest involved writing an essay, and hers was one of the top 200 entries which were awarded packages of 400 tulip bulbs.

The Cobocok Royal Canadian Legion Colour Guard led the students and their guests to the garden from the school's gym.

Grade 8 students Ryan Reed and Eric Logan raised the Canadian and Dutch flags on the school flagpole while the students sang "God Save the Queen".

Visiting dignitaries included MP John O'Reilly, Bexley deputy-reeve Dan Glen and Victoria County director of education Dr. Dianne Dalton, each of whom planted a tulip bulb in the garden. Members of the student council (Nick Cameron, Amanda Angiers, Cory Bassett, and Christine Bryant); representatives of the Grade 1 classes; the school's secretarial staff; the custodial staff; educational assistants; the Legion Colour Party; Ridgewood principal Brian Hough; and members of the press also participated in the planting ceremonies.

During the ceremonial planting, Debbie Fogwell led a choir of Grades

4, 5 and 6 students in the singing of "If I Could Have One Wish (It Would Be For Peace)."

Featherstone's Grade 6 class dug the garden; principal Brian Hough purchased the topsoil and donated it for the garden, Paul Featherstone (Boni's husband) implemented the design, which was provided by Keukenhof Gardens of Holland and Sharon Chambers organized the reception that followed the dedication ceremonies.

Boni Featherstone co-ordinated the event and acted as master of ceremonies.

"May our garden serve as a reminder to us of the importance of international co-operation and may it always bloom in a land of peace," she said.

The planting of the "peace" garden complements the Ridgewood environmental plan, which is to naturalize the school grounds by planting indigenous trees and wild flowers and attracting wild birds with feeders.

No Bush here: business conference cancelled

by Jerry Grozelle

Anne Larcade, director of operations and president of PineStone Resort and Conference Centre said she is disappointed that the Business Vision: 2000 and Beyond Conference was cancelled. The conference was slated for October 13 to 15 at PineStone and a number of experts in the world of business were scheduled to speak. Most notable of the speakers was former U.S. president George Bush.

Larcade said the decision to cancel the conference was made late Thursday afternoon by Stonequest Management, the promoters of the event. She said they were forced to cancel "due to a lack of delegate participation."

"The numbers just weren't sufficient to ensure the success of the conference,"

she said. "With the type of conference we were planning, the integrity was very important."

Larcade said the event would have been a great boost for PineStone.

"We're disappointed, however, it was a wonderful sales blitz for PineStone at the same time and there are over 9,000 corporations in Canada and the U.S. that know of PineStone now. The media response we've had was tremendous. It was actually quite positive for PineStone in terms of the exposure."

She said that other corporate clients were checking in Sunday.

"Everyone has been extremely supportive and hope that at another time they'll have the opportunity to see PineStone through a similar capacity," Larcade said. "We're business people. We go on."

Stanhope/Carnarvon Police Support Association annual meeting

Community policing group elects executive

by Andrew Milne

The Stanhope-Carnarvon Police Support Association elected a new executive at its annual general meeting October 12.

Taking over from the old executive will be Brian Smith, chair, Bob McBrien, vice-chair, Lynda Burley, secretary, and Marvella Smith, treasurer. Jim Hicks will be assisting McBrien in his duties.

Smith took over the chair from Burley, who saw the association through its inception and first few years of operation. Smith thanked Burley for her contribution to the group, and said he was looking forward to working with her in the future.

Al Barnes, one of the officers responsible for the area, expressed his appreciation to the association for its support. Having the backing of the people in the community, he said, makes a huge difference in police work — both in terms of how police feel about the work they're doing, and in the results they get.

He related an incident in Barrie, in which he was chasing one of two suspects he observed attempting to steal hubcaps.

Said Barnes, "I'd made a mistake — I immediately realized that the other guy was in pretty poor shape, and the guy I was chasing was in much better shape... I chased him, and we went around this gas station at least ten times. He wasn't getting ahead of me, and I wasn't catching up. Finally, he went straight, and a young lad on a ten speed bike saw what was happening, and drove right into this chap and knocked him down, so I was able to arrest him... The point I'm trying to make is at that time I felt great about policing, knowing that there were people in the community that were supportive of what we were doing, and that there were people who are willing to help."

OPP officer Brian Ladurantaye also addressed the committee. Ladurantaye told the gathering that community policing is very much what the community chooses to make it — it's the community telling the police what its concerns are, what the priorities are.

"Every area is different," said Ladurantaye. "In Haliburton and Minden, there's a downtown core we need to police, and that tends to be where we concentrate. Stanhope is very much a cottage area, and your activities will probably reflect that... But you tell us, not the other way around... You're the eyes and ears of the area."

Ladurantaye spoke enthusiastically about the concept of community policing, describing it as getting back to looking out for each other, and making communities work through positive action. He also spoke of the rewards of police work that is more involved in the community, and the importance of maintaining a sense of police presence and involvement.

"People used to say the OPP don't have legs," he said. "They'd see us go by in the cruisers, and they'd never see us get out... If they saw the cruiser they'd assume something was wrong. That has to change, and that's starting to change now," he concluded.

Stanhope considers next steps in ice and water rescue

Boat-based and immersed next

by Andrew Milne

Stanhope fire department and Stanhope council are considering the possibility of training and equipping the department to do level II and III ice and water rescue.

Level II and III rescues refer to boat based and water based (immersed rescuer) rescues. They require somewhat more sophisticated equipment than level I (shore based) rescue, for which the department is currently training, and a slightly higher degree of risk to the rescuer, but allow the department to rescue victims in a wider variety of situations.

Stanhope only began training for the level I rescues this year, after the Fire Marshal's Office began offering relatively inexpensive training courses in-province. Prior to this year, fire departments had to travel to the US to get the training, which could be rather hard on the budget.

Ice and water rescues performed by fire departments had been a contentious issue in Stanhope and throughout Ontario since an incident in Port Colborne, in which a firefighter drowned during a rescue attempt. The Ministry of Labour sued the department for negligence, on the basis that the firefighter was neither trained nor equipped for the rescues. For some time in Haliburton county, no departments were doing the rescues, but Stanhope seems to be taking the lead in getting back into doing them.

Bob Pollard, Stanhope fire chief, told council October 11 that equipment for level II and III rescues would cost around $6,000, about $4,000 of which is a "rescue board" — a pontoon equipped apparatus used in travelling across thin ice or open water. The firefighter walks with the apparatus until the ice breaks, then paddles with it, or uses a hook on the end of the paddle, digging into the ice to pull the craft along.

"With the board," said Pollard, "I could hope we would never have to actually send a man into the water."

Immersion suits, large, insulated suits which allow firefighters to be immersed in water in subzero weather, are the other significant expenditure in terms of equipment. Most fire departments are finding they can make do quite well with only two of the suits — for the two rescuers who actually go to the victim.

The real difficulty at this point, says Pollard, is that training for level II and III rescues is still not available in the province. The Fire Marshal's Office is however working on a program, and he expects the cost of taking it will be quite reasonable, once it is ready.

Stanhope firefighters have done rescues in the past, before the ban by council, and while off duty. Snowmobiles going through thin ice in the winter are a fairly common occurrence in the township, as are accidents on the water in the summer.

Council is currently studying Pollard's report.

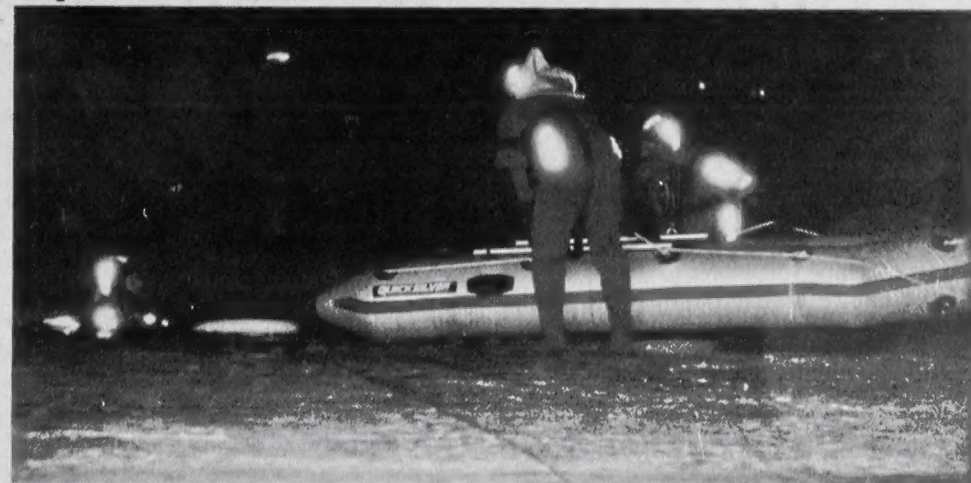

Noise by-law: 'almost unenforceable'

Input from Anson, Hindon and Minden chief building inspector and by-law enforcement officer Doug Schell regarding the possible implementation of a noise by-law in the municipality was reviewed at last week's council meeting.

Schell voiced his concerns in a memorandum to council. At the top of the list is enforcement.

"Most noise by-laws that I am aware of are only in force from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.," Schell said. "Late night parties, loud music, etc., are issues that should be handled by the OPP, who are better equipped to deal with matters of disturbing the peace."

Schell said that OPP officials have in-Muskoka fire fighters, in protective suits practice ice rescue procedures on a lake near Bracebridge. The Stanhope department is currently considering upgrading its training to allow its members to carry out similar rescues.

dictated a willingness to investigate such incidents to obtain information and act as witnesses if the municipality decides to lay charges.

Schell pointed out that the noise tolerance levels of people differ substantially.

"The resulting difference may cause additional court expense and administrative costs," he said.

The tickets used by by-law enforcement officers to ticket people who contravene municipal by-laws are the same as those used by the OPP. They follow the same court procedures to determine fines.

"The collection of unpaid municipal fines must be administered through small claims court, resulting in additional costs," he explained.

Council agreed that a noise by-law would be almost unenforceable and that a possible alternative would be mediation between individuals or groups. The first course of action would be to have the by-law enforcement officer try to settle disputes and if those negotiations fail, have a committee attempt to find solutions through a mediation process and bring them back to council.

Councillor Daryl Moore suggested that some guidelines should be set up to define a course of action.

It was pointed out that there would have to be a willingness on the part of both parties to resolve their differences.

Sherpas will take part in Hillary visit

The visit to Minden by Sir Edmund Hillary will have an added attraction. Three Sherpas and the Canadian husband of one of the Sherpa women will be in attendance, giving the audience the opportunity to meet and speak with some people of Nepal. They will be dressed in traditional Sherpa garb.

Dr. Mingma Gyelzen Sherpa and his wife Phulhamu Sherpa as well as Owen and Nima (Sherpa) McElhinney will accompany Sir Edmund during his visit to the area. Ross Rigney, who is helping to organize the event, explained that in the Himalayas, all names end with Sherpa.

Nima McElhinney will perform a traditional dance as part of the evening's entertainment.

They'll be for two days, visiting the school and that evening, people will have the opportunity to meet them after the show, along with Sir Edmund and his wife June," Rigney said. "I think people will be very pleased."

Rigney said he expects the presentation to take about an hour, after which the audience will be able to meet Sir Edmund and the rest of the group.

Less than 24 hours deviates from vision: board

St. Joseph's executive director Frank Lussing has taken the position that putting more money into the Minden facility simply isn't an option without assistance from the MOH, and the MOH has taken the position that no more money will be forthcoming.

Keeping the hospital open 24 hours a day for the rest of the fiscal year, says Lussing, would incur a deficit in the area of $350,000, on an original expenditures budget of $1.3 million. St. Joseph's has stated they simply cannot come up with the money.

Members of the AHSB spent some time deliberating on the decision. Many were concerned that they did not have more precise and specific information on the financial ramifications of the various possibilities for service in Minden, and did not seem to feel they could make a responsible recommendation without it.

Towards the end of a lengthy discussion, however, the board seemed to come to a consensus that its primary role, the role it had been given at its inception — providing for the health care of the County of Haliburton — would be best served if it spoke up clearly for its own vision of health care for the county: 24 hour service, in Minden, and in Haliburton.

Simply put, say board members, allowing service to be cut now, even temporarily, could severely undermine their ability to do this, and would violate the spirit of that vision. They could not in any case speak to the issue of how it could be funded, and considering they did not have precise information on the financial issues, did not feel they were seriously meant to consider this aspect of the problem. They were asked what, from their point of view, would be the best course of action, and for their purposes, and for the purposes of the public, the 24 hour option was the only one they could consider.

Board members also expressed gratitude to St. Joseph's for their efforts in keeping the hospital running in the difficult times, but reiterated: the priority from their point of view was that the hospital hang on for a few more months, giving the community a chance to recruit enough doctors to ease the difficulty, giving the government time to address the general difficulty of staffing rural emergency wards throughout Ontario, and giving the Board itself a decent chance to make the hospital viable when it takes over.

Board members also expressed the fervent hope the doctor shortage would prove to be a temporary problem, which eventually could be dealt with. Killing a hospital over a mere $350,000, they said, especially at so critical a time, seemed to them somewhat drastic, seen as part of the big picture.

Said board member Ted Wilkes, "To downgrade this facility at this point in time undermines everything we have stood for. On the right hand we're talking about our vision for the future, and on the left hand, closing down what we're trying to do. It just doesn't make sense. We need to go to the people that can help us. Number one: St. Joseph's. Number two: the Ministry of Health. Number three: the government. We are not talking big dollars in the overall scheme of things."

Board members also expressed some concern that even Haliburton Hospital, with its much larger complement of doctors, is enduring financial hardship, in paying the doctors a top up to make up for slow nighttime emergency ward traffic. There is no funding from the MOH for such action, though it says it is studying the issue.

The board said that under the circumstances, unless funding levels sufficient to run the hospitals could be provided by the MOH, it would have to put its foot down about taking over governance of the facilities — see related story.

Board seeks adequate funding for both hospitals

by Andrew Milne

Members of the Acting Health Services Board (AHSB) expressed concerns October 11 that funding levels at the Haliburton and Minden hospitals might be unusually low for 'historical reasons'.

The board therefore requested members of the District Health Council, (DHC) to begin considering whether this can be determined, and what can be done to rectify it.

Council members Lynda Easton and Jack Brezina confirmed that the DHC could be involved in reallocating funding, should this prove necessary, and stated they would notify the council of the board's concerns.

The AHSB is a local group created to take over governance of the Haliburton and Minden hospitals from the current parent hospital, St. Joseph's of Peterborough.

St. Joseph's has reported operating deficits for both hospitals in recent years — even prior to the severe shortage of doctors in Minden in the last year, which resulted in enormous expenditures to bring doctors in from outside the county.

The AHSB's Hugh Nichol, somewhat broadened the line of discussion October 13, in the context of a discussion regarding the current crisis in the Minden facility (see related story). Nichol had also announced at the same meeting that he has found a method of financing the capital projects the board will need to take on at the beginning of their governance of the hospitals. This development, brings the board that much closer to assuming control of the hospitals, and therefore makes resolving the difficulty regarding operating funds that much more pressing. Nichol then stated that the AHSB would simply have to put its foot down and demand that the funding levels be dealt

Hospice service reaches out to those who are dying and their families

One last friend

by Andrew Milne

"People should not die alone," says Dorothy Owens.

Owens is director for the Community Hospice for Haliburton County. Taking that credo as its inspiration, Owens' group intends to do its best to ensure people do not die alone.

The program isn't a new idea. Hospice organizations — groups that help the dying and their loved ones through the difficult last days of life — have been around for about 200 years. Some of the larger ones even run hospital-like facilities, staffed by medical personnel, where the fatally ill can come to die.

Owens' group is relatively small — fifteen volunteers, all professionally trained in non-medical 'comfort measures' and in delivering support to the dying and to their friends and relatives. Owens herself is paid a part-time salary to coordinate the program. The group is run under the aegis of SIRCH, an umbrella organization coordinating a variety of social services in the county of Haliburton.

Owens says she first became interested in palliative care when she was caring for her own parents before their deaths. Spending so much time in the hospital, she says, she noticed just how many people die alone.

"In our family," she says, "our philosophy was that we did not want that to happen, but I realized more and more that does happen, because families just can't do it."

Especially difficult, she says, are the situations in which there is only one caregiver left in the family, possibly the spouse, who may have to travel some distance to care for the dying.

The dying, she says, may have any number of needs a palliative care volunteer can answer.

"They may feel isolated," she says. "They may have been within the family the person people came to when they were in trouble, and now they're redefining their role. Maybe they have some things they want to discuss, but it's hard to do with their family because they don't want to upset anyone. It can help them a lot just to have someone to listen."

The volunteers, she says, can listen, and can guarantee absolute confidence.

The caregivers themselves may need any amount of support. Some will be exhausted, in need of someone to keep the dying company while they sleep. Some will just be curious, needing to know what it is like when someone dies. The volunteers know these things, and what they don't know, they can find out.

There are palliative care programs in existence — Extendicare offers services for the last few days of life. Owens hopes her program will help cover some of the other bases — delivering care in the home. "We're hoping," she says, "to be able to reach the person early on in their illness so that we can have a rapport with that individual, so that when times get tougher or that person needs more support they feel more comfortable using the centre. They're used to that one volunteer... In all the health care services that we have, there isn't enough money to provide someone that much, so we're another part. There's no fee for what we do, anywhere, to the family or otherwise. It's a way of the community supporting the community. We see it as good neighbours."

For all that it's demanding work, says Owens, it does have its rewards.

"I think you have to take very good care of yourself when you're doing this, and we taught our volunteers how to do that; ways to continue to do that," she says. "But I think it's rewarding as well. For me, dying is part of life, and if you can help someone through that journey, I think we grow as individuals ourselves. So in a sense, while it's draining, it's also rewarding. What I find very interesting is that the people I meet who have worked in long term palliative care have an essence about them — almost a glow about them — it's a privilege to be able to do the work."

Yes, she says, the work has changed her outlook on life. But mostly, it's been a good thing. She wonders aloud whether being more in touch with death than has become normal in this culture might be a good thing, a healthy thing.

"You appreciate details," she says. "You appreciate a day like today. I think you do more, and you're more aware of the beauty that you could pass by... Maybe that's why I find people do have this kind of essence about them — maybe they've learned that too, and they know how to appreciate small things."

"Our focus is on living, not dying."

Dorothy Owens... a changed outlook.

'Make sure we have sufficient operating funds' AHSB told with before taking over governance of the hospitals.

Said Nichol, "Obviously the operating funds that they are allocating for these two facilities are not adequate... Even if this is the only positive thing in the whole issue, we have to make this clear to the Ministry of Health right now: we should be adamant that we, as the Acting Health Services Board, are not going to be taking over the governance of these hospitals unless we get adequate operating funds. And we've got to start hammering away at that now... Let's get sufficient operating funds so that when we take over, we have a chance of never having to make a decision like this."

The budgets of the two satellite hospitals in Minden and Haliburton are actually set by the board of St. Joseph's, which receives a global allocation from the MOH for the operation of all facilities under its purview, including Minden, Haliburton, and Peterborough.

Concerns over the allocation of funding at the three hospitals have been voiced before — and were borne out in an independent audit of St. Joseph's finances completed in 1993. The audit determined that St. Joseph's claim that year that the two satellite hospitals were a drain on its finances was inaccurate, and that actually, the deficit reported for the two hospitals should have been a $38,000 surplus. The discrepancy was due to a variety of causes, but it all added up to the conclusion that St. Joseph's had been shortchanging the satellite hospitals in funding allocations from the ministry since the fiscal year 1990/1991.

The audit also found that the Minden hospital's maintenance and upkeep had been significantly neglected, which some observers opined reflected at the very least, a lack of concern for quality of care in a community remote from the board's own concerns, and at worst, a plan to eventually close the small facility, or bleed money from a budget that would no longer be St. Joseph's to administer in a few years.

Concerns voiced at the board meeting October 11 did not specifically state what those 'historical causes' of the low level of funding in the local hospitals were believed to be.

The board also stated its concern that the MOH resolve issues surrounding paying doctors staffing rural emergency wards. Currently, many hospitals in rural Ontario — or at least those which can afford it — pay doctors a 'top up' on top of OHIP billings, to make the often extremely slow night shifts worth covering. However, the MOH does not formally recognize this as legitimate practice, and does not provide funding for it, making it extremely difficult to do. Haliburton Hospital currently does this, and director Foster Loucks (also executive director of the AHSB) has stated that the hospital cannot continue to do this indefinitely if the MOH will not resolve the issue.

Only one choice

Almost two years ago, when the Acting Health Services Board for Haliburton County and Area was first formed, it created a vision for the future of health care services in the area under its mandate. That vision included the allocation of resources and services.

At the board's regular meeting Wednesday evening, it was asked to comment on the tough choice facing St. Joseph's Hospital and Health Centre regarding services at the Minden Hospital after October 31. The board was presented with two options to consider: the continuation of the existing 16 hours a day emergency service and walk-in clinic; or the reduction of the hospital to an eight hour a day medical centre. (It should be noted that the actual decision was not the Acting Health Services Board's to make, although someday it could find itself in such a position. The final decision will ultimately be made by the board of St. Joseph's Hospital which will include in its deliberations the recommendations of the Community Advisory Board as well as the comments of the Acting Health Services Board.)

The board briefly looked at the two options before board member Barb Dawson reminded her colleagues that they had already struck a firm position on the question. She noted the stand had been taken early in the group's mandate, that it had been endorsed by the Ministry of Health and that in fact it formed the underpinning of any decisions the board had taken since then. That early resolution included the consolidation of acute care services at the Haliburton site, the location of the 30 long term care beds adjacent to the Haliburton Hospital, the upgrading of Hyland Crest and the provision of a 24 hour emergency service (with holding beds) in Minden (either at the hospital or at a proposed new location next to Hyland Crest.)

Board members while sympathizing with the dilemma in which St. Joseph's now finds itself, felt it would be unethical and unfair to the community to abandon the position they had taken. To its credit, the board reiterated its stand and, perhaps with an eye to the not too distant future when it will be responsible for health care services in the area, said anything less than a 24 hour emergency service at the Minden Hospital was unacceptable.

We salute the board for sticking to its principles and putting the needs of the citizens it represents above all else.

ARE AVAILABLE AT THE TIMES OFFICE

We need a hospital

The following is a letter sent to the Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson:

Dear sir:

Health care in rural Ontario is in a crisis situation. As in other small communities, the closing of our little hospital in Minden has a far greater impact than simply counting the savings on those few beds that will disappear.

The economy of our community depends heavily upon seasonal residents who rent or own cottages here. The decision to return to an area certainly revolves around the availability of services--especially a hospital.

Minden is growing. Our public school has more than 700 students. And hundreds of city kids look forward to the many camps in the Minden area. The availability of a nearby hospital is essential for our children.

Minden has a fine senior citizen facility. And, the area has a very high ratio of seniors who have vacationed here for years and are now looking forward to retiring in Minden. They may choose another area because of a lack of appropriate health care.

We have been working hard to create new businesses and attract more tourists and residents to the Minden area. Provincial budget cuts are essential - but surely health care in a rural area - where transportation time could be a matter of life and death - is one of those basic reasons that our system of government was designed in the first place.

We need a hospital - not only as a beacon of help to our children, our seniors and the thousands of visitors who spend time here, but as a critical link in our economy. We in Victoria-Haliburton rely on you to represent us in our time of crisis.

Dianne and Gord Graham,
Minden

Access to emergency services is critical

Airplane issue is misunderstood

Editor:

It is obvious from the letters published on October 2 from Carol Moffatt and B. Gilbert that the writers do not understand the concerns voiced by property owners in the north end of Mountain Lake.

What is important to understand is that the concerns are about the noise level emitted by the plane when it takes off. No one, as far as I know, is troubled by the plane when it is in the air, at the required altitude of 500 feet or more.

Mr. Gilbert lives close to the south end of Mountain Lake. I can appreciate what he says, since residents of the south end are not affected by the noise level of the plane taking off. This includes me. Many actually enjoy seeing the plane fly over their cottages. Unfortunately, Mr. Gilbert, who is not on the membership list of the Mountain Lake property owners, has not had the opportunity to hear in full the views of the property owners directly affected.

Carol Moffatt's letter is even more disturbing. Not only is she, like Mr. Gilbert, not affected or possibly even aware of the take-off noise of the plane, but she also implies that the property owners have no right to seek assistance to address the problem. Even finding out which level of government is responsible for this situation is not easy. For example, it would seem logical that a plane, like a boat, would have to obey the normal 10 km/hour speed limit within 30 metres of shore. Only by asking about this have residents discovered that this is not true when a plane is taking off or landing, since speed limits are provincial and planes are federal.

As far as Carol Moffatt's suggestions that Mountain lakers do not contribute to the local economy or to the community in general, I find those accusations, in her words, "ludicrous". Does she not read the paper? Mountain Lake Property Owners were the first of the cottage associations to make a $500 donation in July to the Lions Medical Clinic. Hardly a week goes by without a Mountain laker being commended as a community volunteer, whether it be for the service clubs, the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, for giving tennis lessons, the Terry Fox Run or the Timbersport Festival. It is really a shame that this dispute is being fought through the press rather than in the privacy of a room where both parties can try to work out an agreement.

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has had the courtesy and good judgement to at least try to ad-

Hospital continues to be a concern

The thirty-sixth Parliament of Ontario began this month, and with it, the government's agenda to put this province back on track.

As promised, the grandfathering of Firearms Acquisition Certificates (FACs) for hunters and sports persons was announced. This ensures that experienced gun owners who have demonstrated a solid safety record through years of shooting experience can obtain a five year FAC without taking a Canadian Firearms Safety course or test. To be eligible you must get your application in by December 31, 1995.

People who have successfully completed Ontario hunter or handgun safety tests or courses, or who have been in continuous ownership of a firearm since 1979, or who have an Ontario Outdoors card with hunting privileges will be able to apply for an FAC under this initiative.

Anyone interested in obtaining an FAC should speak with the local OPP firearms officer or Lindsay Police firearms officer.

I was among three cabinet ministers who represented Ontario well in Ottawa, making a presentation to the Senate on Bill C-68, the gun registry legislation. We recommended more effective gun control and enhance public safety alternatives to replace the proposed national firearm registry. Keeping guns out of the hands of criminals, not responsible gun owners, should be the priority.

As well, the government is continuing to work on spending cuts to make up the over-spending by past administrations. Each ministry has identified temporary measures to meet savings targets this fiscal year, as well as permanent cuts to be made next year, starting in April.

In the riding this month, there was good news for the residents in the Minden area. The government intervened to ensure the Minden Hospital stays open and we are working with the Community Committee for Physicians to help them bring quality doctors to the Minden area.

Through an under-served area designation for Minden and Kirkfield, doctors who trained outside Ontario will be able to work in areas where doctors are needed.

Fall fairs out-did themselves this month with some help from the weather, and I was honoured to be a part of the festivities in Kinmount, Oakwood, Lindsay and Bobcaygeon. I also travelled to Minden for the municipal office and court house opening and the opening of Doug Shaw's security business; to Haliburton for the opening of the Women's Emergency House; to Lindsay for the retirement of OPP officer Constable Al Baldree and LCVI's graduation.

In October I am looking forward to attending numerous events in the riding including the Haliburton and Fenelon Falls high schools awards nights, the Small Business Week kick off at Phase One in Lindsay and the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit.

Feel free to contact my office in Lindsay at 705-324-6654 or 1-800-424-2590 with any questions or concerns. I look forward to hearing from you.

Tananarivo: A word in your shell-like ear

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

"By hard, honest labour I've dug all the large words out of my vocabulary and shaved them down 'til the average is three and a half letters long. I never write metropolis for seven cents because I can get the same money for city. I never write policeman because I can get the same money for cop."

Mark Twain

"The present age shrinks from precision and understands only soft, woolly words which really have no particular meaning, like 'cultural heritage' or 'the exigent dictates of modern traffic needs'."

Flann O'Brien

Forget the loonie. Forget the Yankee dollar and the Swiss Franc and the German Deutschmark. The only system of currency with any real value is the one we carry around in our heads. Language. Which is made up of pennies and nickels and dimes and quarters that we call words.

Words from one language don't always play harmonically in another. Bob Dylan sang that Spanish is a loving language, but to French purists, it is the language of washerwomen. Most Anglophones find the sound of German guttural and unpleasant.

I'm not sure how Germans would describe the noise we English speakers make, but 'barbaric' would probably cover it.

Makes you wonder if there could be a universal language, pleasing to the ears. A half a century ago, a Norwegian author by the name of Agnar Mykle wrote a book called Song of The Ruby Red. In it he fantasized about creating the perfect two word introduction between a man and a woman. The man would look at the woman and murmur "Tananarivo?"

And the woman, if she were available and interested, would whisper back "Atacama".

"Just two words," Mykle wrote, "would be enough to give happiness and smiling freedom to all mankind."

Unfortunately, in the Nasty Nineties, any guy walking up to a strange woman and muttering "Tananarivo?" is liable to earn himself two rather different words.

Some words are almost universal. 'Mama' is virtually identical in all the Romance languages. A psychologist at New York University claims that the nonsense word 'juvalamu' is intensely pleasing to just about everybody while the word 'chakaka' is horrible to the ears of English speakers.

Isn't there a rock group called Chakaka?

If not, there soon will be.

You don't have to be a poet to know that the English language is full of beautiful words. 'Flange' is one of my favourites. I also like 'quiver'. Someone once asked American linguist Wilfred J. Funk for his opinion on beautiful English words. He responded with a list of ten: chimes, dawn, golden, hush, lullaby, luminous, melody, mist, murmuring and tranquil.

As for ugly words, well English has those too. A few years ago, members of the National Association of Teachers of Speech came up with a list of the ten ugliest words in our language.

The nominations are: cacophony, crunch, flatulent, gripe, jazz, phlegmatic, plump, plutocrat, sap and treachery.

All of which makes me suspect the NATS suffers from pickle implantation in an anatomical region suffering from negligible sunshine -- what's so ugly about jazz? Or plump? Or even treachery, for that matter?

You want ugly? How about 'victuals'? Try 'flak'. Or 'glottis'. Or 'ki-bosh'.

Of course, I have an unfair advantage over the National Association of Teachers of Speech. NATS is an American organization, whereas I am Canadian.

We Canucks know the true meaning of ugly words. Didn't we give the world a brand new word that sets a whole new standard for foul mouth-ing?

Mulroney.

Now that's talking dirty.

Thanks

Editor:

Thanksgiving is a time to reflect and give thanks for what is good in one's life. In troubled times of budget cuts, horrendous crimes and the overall feeling of all is not well with the world, it is often difficult to focus on the positive. Today I was one of the fortunate ones. I awoke with a euphoric feeling that although life may not be perfect, living in Haliburton County certainly gave me the impression that all could be well in the world.

For the past few months, I have had the great fortune of working as the supervisor of the Women's Emergency House (WEH). This position has been hectic to say the least, but has proved to be one of my most rewarding responsibilities to date.

During the opening ceremonies, Steve Bowskill's statement, "I am proud to be from Haliburton County", sums up my feelings entirely. For seldom a day goes by that I don't receive a phone call from an individual or a group who wish to donate to the Women's Emergency House. Men, women and children who have taken the time, tapped their limited resources and given from the heart, to benefit the House.

When one views the WEH, the word that most often used to describe it is love. It is difficult to wander from room to room and see the hand-made quilts, afghans, pyjamas; the walls that were built, painted and decorated by volunteers; the well-loved toys, books and stuffed animals that have been donated by the children; the added welcoming touches of plants, preserves, hooked rugs and hand-made wall hangings; and not feel totally surrounded by love.

This house is a prototype for Canada. It is unique. It provides this county with a first hand glimpse at what a small rural community can do. When there was no government funding for rural communities to provide temporary shelter for abused women and their children, Haliburton County did not allow this to deter the fact that, "we are willing to provide for our own." The old adage "where there is a will there is a way" (or WEH, in this instance), are not just words here, they are a reality...a two storey, three bedroom, bright, cheerful reality.

Other provinces and large corporations have seen what we are trying to accomplish and have endorsed it with their support. We have received donations from Quebec and Alberta; donations of cash, large appliances, flooring and other necessities from all over Ontario, supporting what Haliburton County is doing. There have been numerous phone calls and requests for information as other communities in Canada and the U.S. contemplate the viability of doing what we have done. Yes, it is unfortunate that there is a need for this House, but we are very fortunate to have a caring community that was willing to address the need.

It would take numerous pages of this paper if I were to list the groups, companies, organizations and individuals who have contributed to the building and furnishing of the Women's Emergency House. The contributions continue and I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one for all you have given.

In summary, yes Steve, I too am proud to say that I am a resident of Haliburton County!

Sheila Whiting,
Supervisor,
Women's Emergency House,

Only a temporary net

Editor:

I object to last week's editorial cartoon.

To me, the cartoon looks like a person hesitating to jump onto a safety net from his apartment window. The net appears to be full of holes. This would be a funny cartoon if the net was being held up by the artist instead of Mike Harris.

The safety net needed in this country should be of a temporary sort to assist those in need through no fault of their own. It should only provide for the minimum of wants, with lots of built-in incentives for the indigent to become self-sufficient as soon as possible. Anything more than this for able persons is a social system that makes me and every working person a slave, part-time, for those who do nothing.

In your cartoon, most of the holes in the net were ripped out by previous governments to pay for these things that do not belong in the safety net.

As one example:

If the landlord was not forced to pay for subsidized housing and women's shelters his taxes would be less and his building more full. He then could have offered his tenants a small reduction in rent or paid for a sprinkler system and smoke detectors so that if a fire did happen, no one would need a safety net. Also the landlord and tenant would have more expendable income and at least some of them would be happy to support a women's shelter in their area.

Mike Harris has a difficult job to do. This province is almost bankrupt mainly by paying for things that it shouldn't and taxing us to death for it.

I hope for more social system cuts, a balanced budget and then less taxes. Only then will our province get back on its feet again.

Jim Battarbee,
Minden

No thanks

To Whom it may concern:

I am an elderly cancer patient, who has trouble speaking, but I do not cause people a lot of trouble.

I would like to know who dislikes me so much to throw a screwdriver through my front window on Saturday, October 7. The crash almost gave me heart failure. I don't think this is very funny or civilized.

If you have any decency in you, stop and think about the awful thing you have done.

Brenda Miles,
Minden.

Noise

dress the concerns expressed and see whether they could pass a noise by-law to solve the problem fairly. In our view it is unfortunate that they do not have jurisdiction over airplane noise. Therefore, I have sent a letter today (October 11) to request council to set up a mediation process for this dispute involving Mountain Lake property owners, Hart Lodge and Day Airways.

Let's try to solve this noise problem rather than pretending that it will go away. It's no laughing matter. Fortunately, no accidents have happened this summer, in spite of a number of close calls. Let's try to mend fences and foster the best possible relations among neighbours on Mountain lake.

24 hours emergency service must be reinstated or play, regardless of our age and general state of health. It strikes us whether we are a permanent or seasonal resident, a visitor or just passing through.

An emergency is sudden and unforeseen, such as a motor vehicle accident, workplace injury or heart attack. Immediate treatment is required to prevent loss of life and to sustain the quality of life. The only option open to us is immediate treatment at the nearest facility.

The Minden Hospital provides emergency care from 8 a.m. to midnight. Emergencies are not limited to these hours. After October 31 we do not know what, if any emergency coverage will be available. The real tragedy will occur when a life is lost or the quality of one life is not sustained because the Minden Hospital doors are locked.

Write or phone Chris Hodgson, MPP and write to David Patterson, Chair of the Board of St. Joseph's Hospital and Health Centre in Peterborough demanding that 24 hour emergency care be reinstated at the Minden Hospital. The life you save may be your own, or that of someone near and dear to you.

No competition for senior Redmen in Kawartha West

Only one touchdown scored against them in five games, Redmen score 220 points, give up 7

by Jerry Grozelle

The fact that the Haliburton Redmen senior football team is the dominant force in the Kawartha West High School League isn't going to be a big help when the team moves into Kawartha League (and beyond) competition. That league may have teams that are equally as strong as the Redmen.

Redmen senior coach Gary Brohman may have had that in the back of his mind when he said, "I wish we had some stronger competition."

Brohman's comment came after two more decisive wins last week in regular season action.

The Redmen trampled the Fenelon Falls Falcons 49-0 last Tuesday in Hali-burton and followed that with a 53-0 victory over the I.E. Weldon Wildcats Friday in Lindsay.

Mike Bradley scored the first touchdown for the Redmen against the Falcons, running in from the 23 yard line in the first quarter. Kevin Morissette kicked the convert.

The second quarter saw Morissette throw a 15-yard pass to Darnell Gilbert in the Fenelon end zone. Morissette was injured on the play, so Bradley kicked the convert.

At the end of the half, the score remained at 14-0.

The flood gates opened up in the second half. Bradley scored two more touchdowns, one on a 42-yard carry and the other from three yards out. Morissette converted both TDs.

A pass and run play from Morissette to Aaron Tomlinson, with Morissette converting, rounded out the third quarter scoring.

Tim Stouffer scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, both from inside the Fenelon six yard line. Morissette converted both.

Bradley picked up 238 yards on 17 carries to lead the scoring. Will Wallace added 40 yards on four carries; Mike Hartwick had 65 yards in six, Tim Stouffer had 10 yards on three and Morissette had 29 in four.

Defensively, Boll Koz was a thorn in Fenelon's side. He had two interceptions and recovered one fumble.

Brohman said Ryan Ladurantaye played a strong game on defense as well.

Details of the 53-0 drubbing of Weldon were unavailable as The Times went to press. Watch for a run-down, along with the game against LCVI this week, in next Monday's paper.

Junior Redmen rookies excel in big win over FFSS

by Bruce Griffith

The HHSS junior Redmen football team travelled to Fenelon Falls on October 10. The Redmen had to win to keep hopes for a playoff berth alive.

After losing to the Falcons in the season opener, a much improved offensive squad was ready for a win in order to prepare for a match against the first place team, I.E. Weldon.

In the opening minutes of the game, things were looking poorly, as the Haliburton players started dropping the ball, which set Fenelon up for a touchdown. After this initial setback, and eight Haliburton fumbles, defensive coach Derek Little had the Doomsday defence shut down Fenelon's offence for the rest of the game.

Late in the third quarter, the Redmen Bull offence, led by rookie quarter back Mike Morissette, could not be stopped. Greg Simmons ran in for the touchdown and a two point conversion.

With the score tied at 8-8, the Redmen almost scored with seconds left in regulation time.

In overtime (two seven-minute halves), flanker Mike Morissette caught a great pass from James Jennings in the end zone for the winning touchdown. Greg Simmons then ran the ball in again for the two point conversion.

In the middle of the second overtime half, James Jennings kicked a punt into the Fenelon end zone for a safety point to clinch the game at 17-8 for the good guys!

With veterans Greg Simmons and Cory Casey having an outstanding game, the stars of the grid iron were the rookie squad of Jon Swinson, Darren Gilbert, Sean Martin, Devon Dart, Chris Moynes, Mike Morissette and coaches Klose and Marsden.

(Coach Griffith had predicted a 36-0 victory over Fenelon.)

Weldon 21, HHSS 2

Friday the 13th wasn't a lucky day for the HHSS junior Redmen. A prediction of a 20-14 win over the Weldon Wildcats was off the mark as the Wildcats defeated the Redmen 21-2.

Both Haliburton points were scored on safety touches.

Weldon has a strong team and the Wildcats led 7-1 at the half.

The Redmen came close to scoring on a couple of occasions but were unable to cross the goal line.

HHSS will play host to LCVI for the last game of the regular season this Thursday.

Allison and Upton win inaugural Deerhurst Golf Challenge

The team of Doug Allison and Merv Upton, both of Minden, won the inaugural Deerhurst Challenge golf tournament on September 19. The pair combined for a sparkling eight under par 64 in the two-man best ball event. The duo put together nine birdies and an eagle, with one bogey on the tough Huntsville course.

Second place went to the team of Doug Prozak and Chris Coneybear with a 66.

Dave Willis and Stu Timbers were third with a four under 68.

Twelve teams entered the inaugural tournament and event chairman Kim Colliss said he can see the field expanded to at least 20 teams for the September 1996 Deerhurst Challenge.

Rounding out the top 10 teams were: McKechnie and Thompson (69); Bull and Barter (70); Mayo and Grierson (70); Gadway and Jones (70); Rosenberg and Beetlestone (71); Ecclestone and Colliss (73); and Bloomfield and Lougheed (74).

The School Bus Operators Of Haliburton County Would Like To Remind You That The Week Of October 16 - 20 Is School Safety Week

PRACTICE THE FOLLOWING SCHOOL BUS SAFETY TIPS AT ALL TIMES

At the bus stop

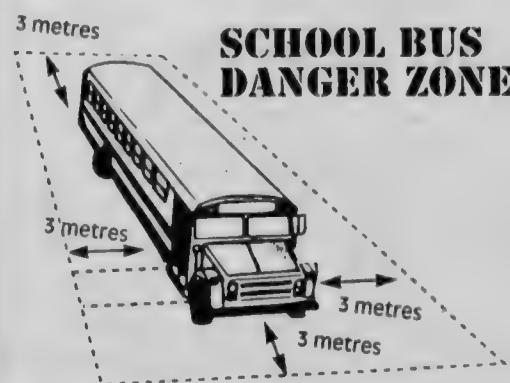

Dress appropriately. Be at the bus stop on time. Wait well away from the road - no pushing or shoving. If you must cross the road wait for the bus to stop, look both ways and look to the driver for their signal that it's okay to cross. Use the hand rail when boarding.

On the bus

Take your seat and stay there until it's time to get off. Don't open your windows without the driver's permission, never put your arms or head out the window. Speak quietly don't yell or scream. Listen to the driver, do what he/she says!

Getting off the bus

Carry all your belongings in a knapsack or bag - never try to carry it all in your arms. Use the hand rail when leaving the bus. Walk three steps from the side of the bus and ten steps forward before crossing in front of the bus. Stop and look back to the driver for his/her signal telling you it is safe to cross - remember to walk not run. If you hear the bus horn sound, Stop and look back to the driver for direction. Should you drop something while crossing 'leave it there' until the bus has gone - then with the help of an older person go back and get it. DO NOT CHASE AFTER ANYTHING, BEND DOWN TO PICK IT UP OR RUN BACK IN FRONT OF THE BUS TO RETRIEVE IT!

Hamilton scores seven goals in Hartwick's 9-8 win over Westside

by Jerry Grozelle

Stamp 7, Times 5

The Times took its first loss of the season October 8, bowing to Sid Stamp Fuels in Minden Men's Hockey Association action. The Stamp crew put a quick end to The Times' winning streak at two games.

The Times opened the scoring but trailed 2-1 at the end of the first half. The battle seesawed back and forth until late in the game when the Stamp team broke a 5-5 tie and added an insurance marker before the final buzzer to earn the 7-5 win.

Ivan Ingram scored twice for the Sid Stamp team and added three assists. Single goals were scored by John Teljeur, Scott Bailey, Jeff Howe, Mark Thompson and Bern Berry. Barry Smith, Carry Gilligan, Howe and Dennis McKee notched two assists apiece for the winners and single helpers went to Teljeur and Thompson.

Craig Crowe notched a hat trick for The Times and Craig Smith scored the other two.

Dave Hounsell, Jeff Black, Jamie Dollo and Jim Crawford helped the cause with two assists each and Jarrett Campbell assisted on one goal.

Home 10, KDD 0

Dwayne Warburton scored a hat trick and assisted on two more as Home Hardware skated to a 10-0 romp over Kountry Double D in the evening's second game. Charlie Teljeur, Ben Manuge and Ron May added two markers each and Tom Miscio netted one.

Bob Adams, Gary Harrison and Teljeur helped set up two goals each, with one assist each added by Terry Allore, Peter Allore, Manuge and Miscio.

Terry Crowe earned the shutout between the Home Hardware pipes.

Hartwick 9, Westside 8

Westside Jug City jumped out to a 5-1 lead at one point in the first half of the evening's late game, before Hartwick Construction notched its second goal to end the period trailing 5-2.

The second half saw Westside keep a jump ahead of the Hartwick crew for a while. But Hartwick went on a four-goal scoring rampage to take a 9-7 lead. Westside added one more, closing the gap to 9-8, but that was as close as the Jug City team would get, as Hartwick held on for the 9-8 win.

Scott Hamilton was a one-man wrecking crew, scoring seven times and adding one assist for the winners. Dave Sisson and Dave Dollo got the other two goals. Sisson and Bill Hogg had three assists each, while Dave Crego and Dollo helped set up one each.

Kim Hamilton paced the Westside attack, racking up four goals and one assist. Tom Haley notched a pair of goals in the losing effort and singles went to Andy Campbell and Kent Taylor.

John Walden had three assists, Haley and Campbell two assists apiece, and Doug Schell had one helper.

The Men's League plays three games every Monday night at the Minden arena starting at 8, 9 and 10 p.m.

HHSS senior and junior boys soccer teams won't make playoffs

They have one game left, but both the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School senior and junior Redmen boys soccer teams are officially out of contention for a playoff berth in Kawartha West Soccer League action.

The junior game at Haliburton last week saw the Redmen lose 4-1 to the Fenelon Falls Falcons. But coach Dan LaPierre said it wasn't because the Redmen didn't have some good scoring chances. "We had ample opportunities to score, but the other goalie came up pretty hot," LaPierre said.

Morgan Talaba scored the lone Haliburton goal in the second half. That goal cut Fenelon's lead to 3-1 but the Falcons added one more in the second half. The coach said that Talaba had a couple of other good scoring chances and a few other players missed on some good opportunities as well.

"It was an even game in the second half," LaPierre said. "It was a good team effort."

The action was end to end, but it was the Falcons who capitalized on more of the opportunities.

LaPierre said Redmen goalie Andrew Wagg played a good game in the second half.

Seniors downed 2-0

The senior Falcons went home with a 2-0 win.

"They played really well, but lost 2-0," said senior coach Peter Bertelsen. "They just couldn't put the ball in the net."

Bertelsen gave credit to Nathan Gibbons, who played his first game in goal for the Redmen. Gibbons was replacing Jason Kasepчук, who suffered a slight fracture in his hand in the game the week before.

"He (Gibbons) stood strong when he needed to," Bertelsen said.

The pressure will be off for both the Redmen teams when they play the LCVI Spartans in Lindsay this Thursday. With no chance of making the playoffs, the teams will be able to enjoy a fun game on their last outing of the season.

Annual HHSS Turkey Shoot raises funds for school projects

The annual Turkey Shoot was held at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School the week before Thanksgiving. The purpose of the event, which involves accuracy with a basketball, is to raise money for future school related events and to encourage participation and school spirit.

An added bonus was the fact that five families got a Thanksgiving turkey.

The event is generously supported by local merchants who donate the turkeys. The organizing committee, which includes Grade 12 students Andrea Black, Mike Bradley, Tom Neville and Krista Vick, offered thanks to those supporters on behalf of the students of HHSS.

This year's winners, and the donors of the turkeys they received were: Mr. Irv Sternberg/Haliburton IGA; Greg Forgrave/Haliburton Valu-Mart; Mike Lyons/Haliburton Butcher Block; Amanda Duncombe/Minden Valu-Mart; and Kim Bagshaw/Minden IGA.

Dorset area meetings will deal with alcohol

A number of meetings are planned in the Dorset area to assist two municipalities in drafting a policy in regard to alcohol in public buildings. The meetings are being sponsored by the townships of Sherborne et al and Lake of Bays, which is part of the Regional Municipality of Muskoka.

"In consultation with the Addiction Research Foundation, a committee was formed in May to develop a policy for the management of alcohol in various municipal facilities throughout the two townships," a press release noted. "The group's purpose is to develop a policy that reduces the risk of Special Occasion Permit holders, sponsoring groups, volunteers workers and the township from facing legal difficulties with regard to serving alcohol at community events."

The committee has been assisted in its deliberations by the Addiction Research Foundation.

The public is now being encouraged to become involved in the discussions. Three meetings have been scheduled: November 2, 7:30 p.m. at the Dwight Lakeview Seniors Building, across from the municipal building; November 20, 7:30 p.m. at the Dorset Recreation Centre; and November 21, 7:30 p.m. at the Baysville Community Centre.

Before heading south...

Are you going south this winter or taking a vacation? Here are a couple of important reminders to add to your check list.

Check the expiry date of your vehicle ownership and driver's licence. Fines for out of date licences can be costly and time consuming when you cross borders on your return home.

The Ministry of Transportation (MOT) sends renewal notices approximately two months before the expiry date on your licence. You can renew upon receipt of your renewal notice at any MOT licence outlet. There are provisions for advanced renewals, renewing six months prior to the due date. However, advanced renewals can only be processed through a MOT Driver Education Centre.

A licence can be renewed by mail or by a person other than the licence holder, providing no photo is required and the licence holder has signed the renewal form.

Notify your home and vehicle insurance agent of your plans to be away. Most home insurance policies have very strict guidelines. Make sure you know what they are. Your insurance policy may stipulate that you must have home checks made at regular intervals while you are away. It may dictate that failure to notify your agent when you are away nullifies your coverage or even terminates your coverage.

Check with your agent regarding exactly what your automobile insurance coverage is and if it is adequate for the area in which you are travelling. If you are renting a car, don't assume that your automobile insurance coverage will be acceptable to the leaser.

Do you have any questions? Do you require support and assistance in accessing services? We can help. Reunited after 45 years

It has been 45 years since they have seen each other. They became good friends while growing up in west Germany after the war.

Stanhope resident Ingeborg Ewstratin was working as a housekeeper in Rottweil Am Neckar in the western part of the country. Glidrun Henkel was a young girl of 13 who had been sent out of then East Germany to live with her relatives in the small community where Ingeborg worked. Conditions in the eastern part of the country, already devastated by the war, were deteriorating even further as the Communists imposed its regime on the land.

Their bond was shattered when the Communists erected the wall dividing east and west Berlin and relations between the two Germanies became strained. Glidrun was forced to return to the east and rejoin her family.

The two maintained contact by mail, writing regularly, always with the hope that one day they would meet again.

Ingeborg moved to Canada and married. She and her husband operated the Ox Narrows Lodge for years. During that time she made several attempts to visit her friend in East Germany, but she was denied access and turned back at the border.

When the Berlin wall came down four years ago, so did the travel restrictions.

The two were finally reunited, not in Germany, but here in Canada when Glidrun arrived for a visit that will last until the end of the month.

"It has just been great," Ingeborg said enthusiastically. "We have been reliving old time and making up for all the time we were apart." She notes that this is also a glorious time of the year for the visitor from Germany to be touring the area. Glidrun shares that opinion saying the coloured leaves and Indian Summer have been great.

This reunion ends in several weeks, but not before the two friends from 45 years ago enjoy the wedding of one of Ingeborg's children.

Friends Glidrun Henkel, left, and Ingeborg Ewstratin have been reunited after 45 years. The two grew up in Germany and became separated when the country was split into an east and west section.

Conveniences suggested for white water park

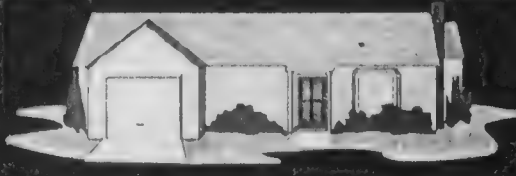

A Minden Lake property owner wrote a letter to the council of Anson, Hindon and Minden complaining that the beaches near the White Water Reserve are being used as toilets by kayakers.

"We don't have any problems sharing our lake with these kayakers, but we don't want them using our beaches as toilets," stressed Ann Wilson in her letter, dated October 2.

Wilson said that it has been a problem for years and seems to be getting worse. She requested that the municipality install portable toilets or prohibit parking along Horse-shoe Lake Road One so the kayakers would be forced to park at the clubhouse and use the facilities there.

Council had been unaware of the problem. It was noted that the White Water Club's building was usually only open when it was conducting an event and that there is a chain across the entrance when it is not in use.

The possibility of installing a public toilet which could be pumped was discussed. Municipal staff will get a price on construction of a toilet facility with a holding tank. White Water Club officials will be contacted to see if they would be interested in helping financially if the municipality decides to build a public toilet facility at the site.

Searching: Haliburton County Search and Rescue needs new members

The Haliburton County Search and Rescue team is looking for new members.

The volunteer team assists the OPP and other organizations in search and rescue operations. Members are trained in first aid, CPR, bush survival, map reading, compass use, grid search methods, hasty team search methods, basic communications, ropes and climbing, and the use of signal fires.

Lesley English, who joined the team recently, says she has thoroughly enjoyed the experience.

Says English, "It's wonderful. It's great. I've only been actively involved in two searches but we've done a number of simulations and training exercises... We moved to the area in December, and I was really interested in getting involved with the community, and I thought this would be a really good way of doing it. I found that the people involved give their all — there are no egos — everyone's chief desire is to act in a supporting role."

Persons wishing to join the team can pick up an application at Eagle Lake Food Town, or at Bowes and Cocks in Haliburton. Applications will be reviewed by the group's executive and by the OPP.

Members are effectively on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week. If the team is required, a call is sent out to all members, and those who are able to attend the search do so.

Members are also asked to assist in fundraising activities, to do regular training, to assist in equipment maintenance, and to participate in simulated search and rescue scenarios to keep their skills in tune.

Says English, "If you're available you come out for the search — and you've always got a little jump pack ready to go. If you're not available, the caller just goes down to the next name on the list. Which is why it helps to have a large membership."

The team currently has 18 members. It was formed in 1991, and has thus far done the following:

- assisted to the OPP at motor vehicle accident in July 1991;
- assisted with traffic control at the Legion Parade, September 1991;
- went on standby for lost hunter in Kinmount

area, November 1991;

- assisted in search for three missing women in the Duck Lake Road area, March 1992

- assisted in search for two young girls lost in the bush at Camp Adelaide, July 1992;

- assisted in search for two boys lost in the bush overnight in the Mississauga Dam Road area, September 1992;

- assisted in search for hunter lost overnight in the Burleigh Falls area, November 1992;

- lent search and rescue trailer to the OPP, in investigation of Nystedt case, July 1993;

- assisted with security at Highland Games in Haliburton, July 1993;

- assisted in search for man lost in the Little Hawk Lake area, July 1993;

- provided first aid at Haliburton Lake regatta, August 1993;

- assisted in search for missing person in the Fletcher Lake area, October 1993;

- called to search for missing nine year old girl in Wilberforce area, June 1994;

- assisted in search for woman lost in the bush in the Gooderham area, and applied first aid, June 1994;

- attended National Sarscene Conference in Toronto, October 1994, to attend presentations on search and rescue related issues;

- assisted in search for lost 38 year old woman in the bush area north of Raven Lake, October 1994;

- assisted ambulance using rescue toboggan for snowmobile injury, March 1994;

- assisted with security at the Highland Games, July 1994;

- did search in Buckhorn Road area, July 1994;

- did search in Dorset area for missing person, August 1994;

- attended Eagle Lake Rhubarb Festival, July 1994.

- did search in Dorset area for missing person, August 1995;

- called to search for missing children in Tory Hill area, October 3, 1995

Seniors Club receives charter

The Minden Senior Citizens Club has now become affiliated with a provincial and national organization.

The group received its provincial charter at a regular meeting last Tuesday at the Minden Legion Hall.

Ethel Baker president of the organization accepted the charter on behalf of her members, from Gord Bently, representing the United Senior Citizens of Ontario.

Bently told the meeting that the provincial organization has been very active in promoting the interests of seniors across the province.

He noted that health care and health care facilities were a prime area of concern and cited the confusion over the future of the Minden Hospital as one area where the influence of the organization might be helpful. "The organization has been actively lobbying the Minister of Health and our local MPPs and suggest you do the same," Bently told the audience.

He pointed out that the provincial government is cutting health care expenditures "to the bone" and that efforts must be made to ensure that services in retirement areas, such as the Haliburton Highlands, are still available.

The provincial association, which the local club has joined, is also affiliated with a national seniors citizens organization, giving the members an even greater say in the concerns affecting people in their age group.

The local seniors club is supported by the Minden Legion, however there is no requirement for members to have a Legion affiliation to become involved with the group. The club has regular meetings, often with entertainment, and are involved in community events and activities including bus trips.

At the moment the local group has a membership of 112.

Ethel Baker, president of the Minden Senior Citizens Club, accepts the certificate marking the group's affiliation with the United Senior Citizens of Ontario. Gord Bently represented the provincial organization when the presentation was made at the regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Legion Hall.

Mighty Myths

In ancient times, people believed that the world was inhabited by different gods and spirits. Stories that tell of the gods are called myths. There are myths from all countries, but those from Greece and Rome are the most familiar.

Many of the Greek myths were adopted by the Romans. The mythology of the Greeks and Romans considered together is called classical mythology.

Here are some mythological figures you may recognize.

• Athena: The Greek and Roman Goddess of wisdom. She is said to have had an unusual birth, springing fully grown out of the forehead of her father, Zeus.

• Helen of Troy: In classical mythology, she was the most beautiful woman.

After being captured by Paris, the prince of Troy, the entire Greek army sailed to get her back. This is why she was called "The Face That Launched a Thousand Ships."

• Hercules: One of the greatest heroes of classical mythology, he is supposed to have been the strongest man on Earth.

• Midas: In classical mythology, he was a king who was granted one wish. Greedy for riches, Midas wished that everything he touched would turn to gold.

He soon regretted it after touching his beloved daughter and turning her into a golden statue!

• Narcissus: A beautiful youth in classical mythology, he fell in love with his own reflection. Because he was unable to tear himself away from the image, he wasted away and died.

• Romulus and Remus: According to Roman legend, they were twin brothers who were raised by a she-wolf and founded the city of Rome.

Myth's Meanings Today

Some ancient myths and mythical figures carry meaning in our daily lives. Here are just a few examples:

• Adonis: An extremely beautiful boy of classical mythology, people today sometimes call handsome young men "Adonis."

• Atlas: Famous for his strength, he was condemned to support the Earth on his shoulders for eternity. Now the word "Atlas" is used for the book of maps.

• Mars: The Roman god of war, the month March is named after Mars, as well as the planet.

• Mount Olympus: The legendary home of the Greek and Roman gods, Mount Olympus is an actual mountain in Greece.

The Olympic games were a celebration held every four years in honor of Zeus, the chief of the gods. Today's Olympic games are modeled after them.

• Thor: The god of thunder in Norse mythology. Thursday is named after him (Thor's Day).

A disturbing look at the future

Last week, I discussed an article in Ambio (Vol. 23, 1994) by Nobel Prize winner Henry Kendall and population dynamics expert David Pimentel showing that humanity is exceeding the Earth's capacity to support us all. The community of the Earth's diverse living things cleanse, alter and regenerate air, water and soil. Yet now, we "either use, co-opt or destroy 40 per cent of an estimated 100 billion tons of organic matter produced annually by the terrestrial ecosystem." So we drive many other organisms that are keeping the planet habitable to extinction.

Ozone depletion also has frightening repercussions in that, "Of some 200 species studied, two-thirds show sensitivity to ozone damage."

And global warming "...will be catastrophic for agriculture, changing rainfall patterns, drying some areas such as central North America and increasing climatic variability. There will be effects on the growth of plants as well as collateral effects on plant pathogens and insect pests. Whole ecosystems may undergo major change."

This isn't just hypothetical or speculative. The year 1988, the hottest year on record so far, was... "accompanied by a mid-continent drought which resulted in a 30 per cent decrease in crop yield, dropping U.S. production below consumption for the first time in some 300 years. Similarly, Canadian production dropped about 37 per cent."

To minimize global warming, fossil fuel emissions must be cut drastically while forests are preserved so they can remove carbon dioxide. Improving life for all people while reducing emissions will require a staggering... "three- or four-fold increase in effective energy services."

Kendall and Pimentel consider three different scenarios in a warming world to the year 2050:

- Business As usual (BAU): population rises to 10 billion; soil erosion, salinization and water-logging increase; no increase in aid for developing countries; no action to reduce global warming and ozone depletion.

- Pessimistic: Most dire predictions realized; high global temperature rise; high ultra-violet radiation; population growth to nearly 13 billion and worsening debt.

- Optimistic: Adoption of heroic efforts and major technological achievements; population stabilizes at 7.8 billion; energy-intensive agriculture is expanded; soil and water conservation improves; developed countries increase financial aid and technology; food is more equitably distributed and diets shift from animal to plant protein in developed nations.

The result of each of these projections:

- BAU: Grainland declines to 620 million hectares in 2050 from 718 million hectares in 1980. There is 0.06 hectares per capita for grain production, less than a quarter of what was available in 1991. Food production will be depressed in the developing world between 15 and 30 per cent over next 25 years, topsoil erosion will reduce rain-fed cropland by a daunting 29 per cent. "The per capita grain production in Africa, China, India and other Asian nations, will, on average, decrease by more than 25 per cent."

- Pessimistic: "Grain production in 2050, about 15 per cent below BAU. While this represents nearly a 30 per cent increase in grain production over 1991, it means per capita production will be down over 40 per cent. There is little hope of providing adequate food for the majority of humanity by the middle or later decades of the period we consider."

- Optimistic: "We would require near doubling of today's production...irrigation would have to be expanded by about 20 per cent and the amount of nitrogen and other fertilizers expanded 450 per cent."

Food production and environmental protection will have to be given the highest priority while the cost and technological innovation would be carried by the industrialized world for the developing nations.

If all people in industrialized countries became vegetarians, food production is tripled and energy intensity in developing world's agriculture is increased 50 to 100 fold, then "the 2050 population of 7.8 billion might be fed an adequate diet." But, they add with understatement, "this would appear to be unrealistic."

"The human race now appears to be getting close to the limits of global food productive capacity based on present technologies. Substantial damage already has been done to the biological and physical systems that we depend on for food production....A major reordering of world priorities is a prerequisite for meeting the problems we now face."

These are not the rantings of zealots announcing the end is nigh, they come from eminent scientists. Considering the media coverage of the Simpson and Bernardo trials, surely Kendall and Pimentel deserve more attention than they've received.

Dance workouts will benefit medical clinic

For two former snowbirds, this coming winter in the Highlands will be right in step with what they were doing south of the border for five winters.

Certainly, the weather will be a little different for John and Margaret Foster of Minden. But they'll be involved in one of their favourite activities, teaching line dancing.

"During the five winters we spent in Panama City, Florida we taught line dancing to classes of up to 150 seniors, both men and women," Margaret explained. Last year the couple held classes in the Community Centre. However, this year they will be teaching them at St. Paul's Anglican Church.

The Fosters have entered into an agreement with the church. Half the $3/person lesson fee will go to the church with the remainder being donated to the Lions Community

Medical Centre. The couple said the agreement would ease financial concerns (occasionally last winter, not enough dancers would attend to even cover the reduced rental of the community centre), and benefit both the church and the clinic. The classes will also provide a beneficial physical activity during the winter months.

The classes, which are scheduled to start October 24, will be held every Tuesday morning from 10 a.m. to noon. The classes are open to men and women. Call the Fosters for more information at 286-2012.
